TALK OF THE TOWN

Carnama...

Lean men with mean machines this diarist absolutely loves, but purring with revved engines were some of this city's femme fatales make for interesting observation. The sultry winner of the Lavasa Women's Drive Rally was a crimson red lovely wheeled in by cousins Amolika and Lisa Tikekar. And if you have an effervescent co-

passenger like the brilliant architect-designer

Falguni Gokhale, it is sure must have been one joyride! The fact that she hand-painted her car as vividly as herself, speaks volumes of their versatility! She told this diarist that painting the car — bright red was great fun and while the designer drew the outlines, good friends like Lisa Tikekar, Shanth Mannige, Rohini Sahasrabuddhe and Renuka Potdar helped her fill in the right colours. The painting showcased the women, their boldness and togetherness for a common cause who are ready to take on any challenges and who drive away obstacles together. Sporting colleague Hemant Karandikar batted for their team by the winning slogan 'This Car Runs On Spirit'. Other friends and family who preferred being enthusiastic cheerleaders were hubby Satish Gokhale, good friends Arti Kirolskar, Naved Aslam, Ajay and Vinita Nandgaokar. Next in line, she says, she would like to paint a train or better still a battle tank and drive it to a rally. The reason — wait for this — peace and harmony and to stop wars! Anyone listening?
